

I think the most impactful thing that happened this week at BYP is when we got mystery boxes from the fashion team full of materials like toilet paper, paper bags, garbage bags, ribbons and etc... But i enjoyed it because im am finding out how to make different stuff and patterns from different clothes. I thought it was very tricky also because we had to know how to make the paper bags and stuff stronger so she could actually wear it and look presentable because if we didn't have the stapler it would be hard to put the outfit together and the clothes would rip.

I also enjoyed crushing the tiles and marble because i like breaking and destroying things and i liked putting the different patterns of materials on the board because it was very fun to touch and play with cement and crush things . But when we really build the mosaic i'm going to be really tired. But i like hands on activities so it will be fun to do also.

Those are the things i enjoyed this week at BYP!!!
