

My favorite part of the week was today, today we got to read all different kinds of fashion books. Then i got a chance to take some words that were inspirational to fashion and we also got to different word that described types of clothes.then we got to sit down as a huge group and discuss all the words and then we made a list of what words we were going to use. Then we got to go out and explore the community. And find different picture that describe the words that we had wrote down on the whiteboard

Chris Mullen