

Impactful Week

The most impactful thing that happened at BYP so far was when we did the fashion challenge. It was so much fun because we had to come together and try to make the best garment out of what we had. It made me learn how to make an outfit out of garbage bags too and that will be something I'll always remember. It was so unique and felt like we were doing a challenge for Project Runway. This was the most meaningful because that's not a typical everyday thing that you do. That's the most impactful thing we did this week and I enjoyed it very much.
