

The most impact thing i learned with BYP this week , on thursday when we picked a box with materials and had to make a outfit out of it . in my box there were things like plastic bags & rubber bands , that was the most impact day to me because it was fun & also we were being timed while doing it .it was much fun doing it i never did anything like that before besides being late and having to rush & get dressed. I would like to do it again & see what the difference it would be with different items , the reason i decided to pick that active we did thursday because everyone enjoyed doing it.
